

agitated the populations of the ports and excited the public spirit within the