

with those who profess wit, poured floods of ink during this