

Throughout the major cities, the monster became fashionable; it was sung about in cafes, mocked in newspapers, and performed in theaters.